Wittenberg University

Springfield, Ohio
Editor: Karen Muetzel

Dedicated to the students, faculty, and administrators
who are the faces of Wittenberg.

Foreword

A college yearbook, such as this 1967 Witt, tries to catch in time the faces of the university—ecstatic smiles over term paper A's, bitten lips wrestling with trigonometry, mouth wide grins at party antics, radiant lovers' eyes during moonlight strolls, sober yet joyous solemnity communing at Weaver Chapel. Individual student faces these—mirroring the excitements and the heartaches, the pleasures and the sorrows, the successes and the failures, of the university experience. But no one face, except in a picture, can be frozen forever at a single moment in time. Student faces change from instant to instant as each unique one experiences each moment uniquely.

The University itself has a face, in part a mirror of its students, in part a reflection of its campus, in part of its faculty, and like the faces of its students, its face too is one of unceasing change. This spring was not the same as last; next winter will be different from this. The oak by Reci puts forth new shoots; the ivy on Zimmerman reaches farther for the sky. Snow swirls the same in all years, but in different patterns. This year the Tower and Krieg Hall; next year the Science Building, and the year after a new Carnegie.

The faces of the faculty are also mirrors whose reflections can be held static only for a moment. As knowledge and its profession changes, so do the faces of its professors. The young instructor, eyes aglint with the excitement of wrestling intellectually with his students, matures into the wise professor mellowed by generations of student faces, and humbled by the never ending change in his discipline. The deepening lines in his cheeks and the greying of his hair are outward symbols of the growing maturity of intellect within.

A University then is an assemblage of faces, similar and yet new. Love, intellect, play, learning and worship remain. Expressions differ from year to year. When, twenty years from now, the reader takes down this book he will be reminded that the face of an institution remains basically unchanged, but that the expressions on the face are ever changing and ever new.

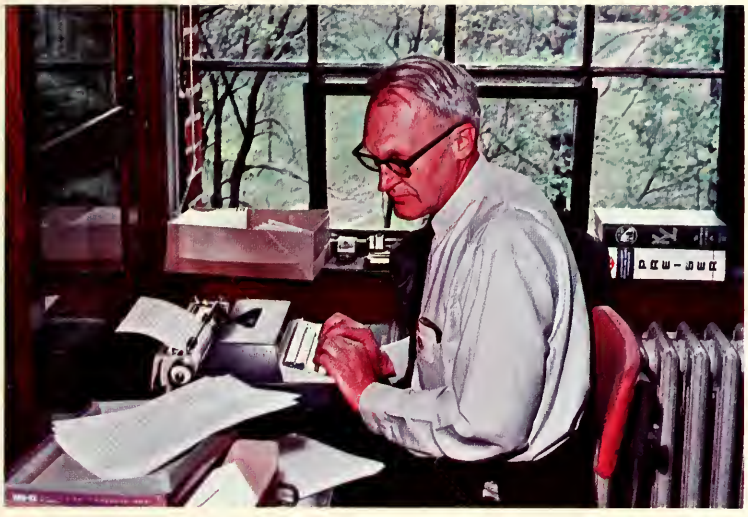
A university is a mosaic—from the outside it seems to present one picture, one face—but upon a closer look you can see the many separate and individual pieces that make up the whole. Each person who contributes to the make up of a university is unique and just as each piece of glass in a mosaic adds its own distinctive shape and sparkle to the total picture, so does each individual on campus lend his particular talents and personality to the face of the whole university.

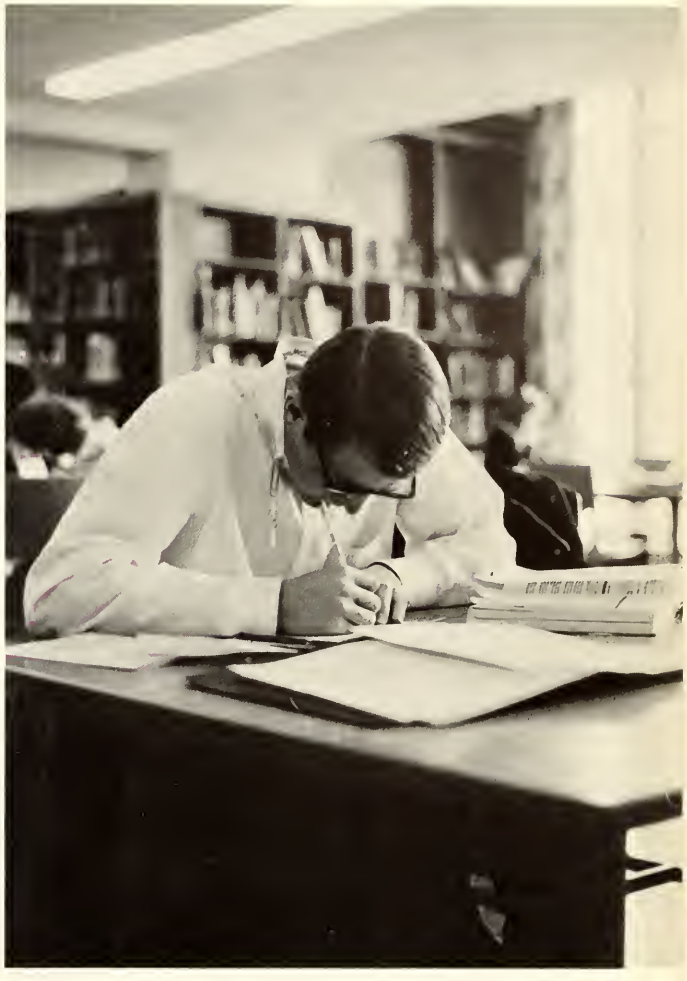
WITTENBERG

WITTENBERG UNION

Our faces are our means of communication with the world, and they reflect our entire personality not only through our speech but through our eyes, our raised eyebrows, our grimaces, and our smiles. And each one of us has many moods and many faces that go into the individual mosiac of our own personality.

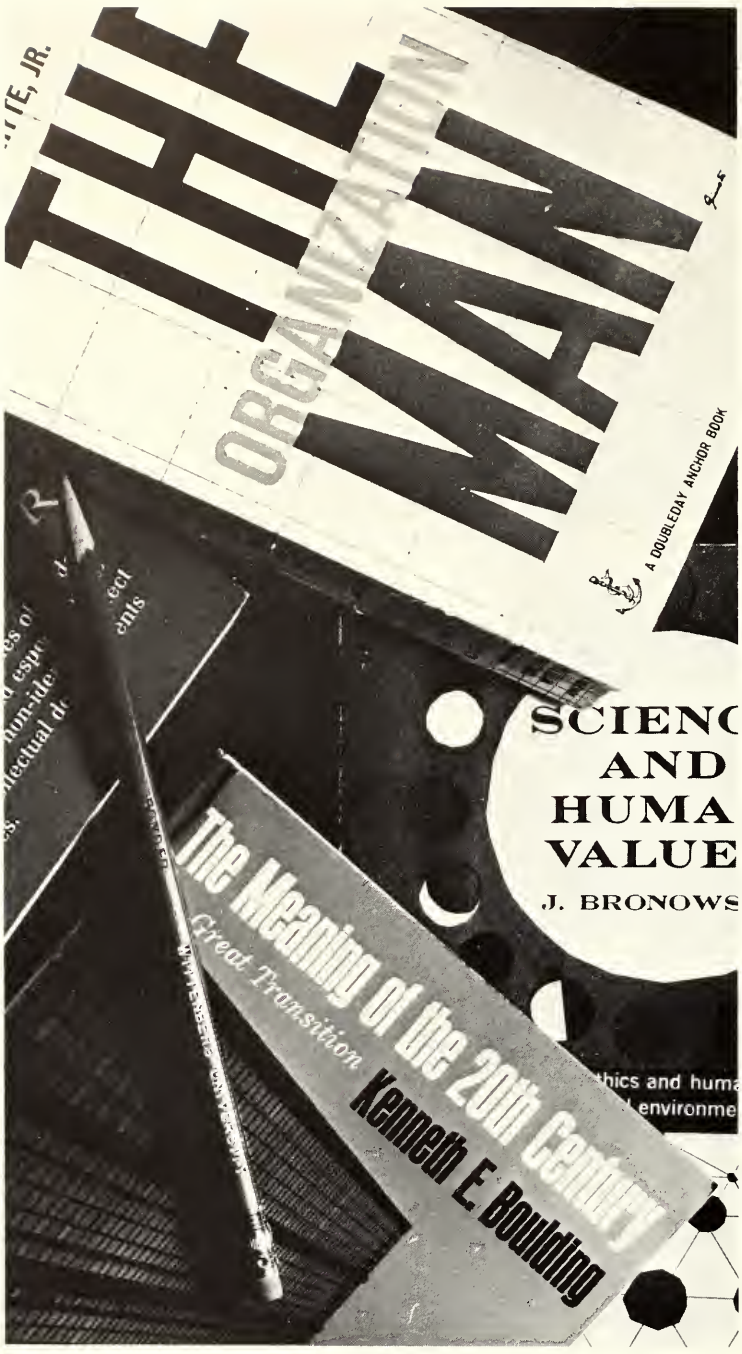
The faces on campus reflect the many concerns of the university as—for a time—it attempts to provide a total life for those who have chosen to study and work here—the intent face of the student bent over a microscope, the tired face of the professor in his office late at night wrestling with tomorrow's lecture, the sympathetic face of the friend, student, or professor whom you know will always listen, and the glow on that special face you know so well.





But faces also reflect the inner concerns that are shaped and given depth by our college experience—the idea, the taut, angry face, confused and bewildered by the problems of society, the compassionate and understanding face that is helping other people, the serene and yet intense face that reflects one thinking about his deepest spiritual concerns.

Together our faces make up the total face of Wittenberg—a changing, growing, maturing face that looks toward the future and accepts its challenges. The moods and attitudes of Witt are as variable as the moods and faces of the students, faculty, and staff that make up the college community. And this is as it should be, for an organism, be it individual or university, is vital and significant only insofar as it changes and meets new possibilities, as it presents an alive and interested face to the future.



Freshman Seminar

The face of Wittenberg looks forward.

Entering its one hundred and twenty first year as an institution of higher learning, Wittenberg's face was looking forward—forward to a restructured academic system known as the 3-3-3 Program and a greatly revised school calendar; forward to a year in which students would express themselves to a greater degree on many aspects of campus life.

The year began with a new innovation, Freshman Seminar, with "Creativity in an Age of Conformity" as its theme. Asked to return to campus a week before the upperclassmen, the freshmen attended lectures and participated in small group discussions dealing with required reading material. In addition, a movie, concert, visits to faculty and administrators' homes, and a Freshman Mixer helped the freshmen feel a part of Wittenberg.

As the week of Freshman Seminar drew to a close, new faces began to appear on campus.

Upperclassmen returned for Syncopate Practice, Pan-Hel and Student Senate retreats, and for the first home football game. They came in cars loaded with clothes, books and book racks, pole lamps and sun lamps, records and record players, guitars, and numerous other gadgets necessary only to a college student! They brought tales of wonderful summers—And they were happy to be back.

A Symposium . . . Class Elections

The beginning of classes, October 3, signaled the start of numerous campus activities. A symposium was held October 13-14 with guest lecturers individually addressing special Chapel convocations and participating jointly in a panel discussion.

Class meetings were held and posters dotted the campus as students campaigned for class offices. On election day students "went to the polls" to elect their leaders and the 1966 Homecoming Queen.

The weekend of October 22 brought dads (and moms) to campus for Dads' Day, which was highlighted by the Tigers' victory over Heidelberg. Concerts, Sunday worship service in Weaver Chapel were all part of the planned activities.

The University Theatre began its season with an example of total theater with the performance of "The Persecution and Assassination of Jean-Paul Marat as Performed by the Inmates of the Asylum of Charenton under the Direction of the Marquis de Sade." One of the first amateur groups in the United States to produce the play off Broadway, the cast worked long hours in developing characters who could be mentally insane while conveying the ideas of the author.

Homecoming

The week prior to Homecoming was a busy and hectic one for dorm residents and sorority and fraternity members who worked to construct winning displays. The winners were rewarded before the start of the Homecoming game when Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Delta, and South-Keller received first place trophies.

Judy West, a Lancaster, Ohio senior, was named Wittenberg's 1966 Homecoming Queen. She reigned over the day's festivities, heightened by the Tigers' resounding defeat of Ohio Wesleyan, 27-0, and over the evening's dance in the Union.

Meetings in the union polled student and faculty opinion and found it varied.

Days Of Dialogue

From Michael Ermath to Steve Weisman, Days of Dialogue asked the function of a university.

De facto heterogeneity—students asked for more.

Begun in the recesses of a student's Professor Evaluation Committee, secreted through ASP channels and full-blown in classes and union meetings, Days of Dialogue accomplished its purpose. It made students and faculty talk about their school.

Student attention was rapt, especially over social issues.

Producing plays written by unknown authors is one goal of the University Theater. To meet this goal, the play Malmedy: Case 6-24 by Springfield businessman C. R. Wobbe was produced. Dealing with the Nazi war trials which followed the Second World War, the play was a success and will hopefully lead in the future to the production of many new plays.

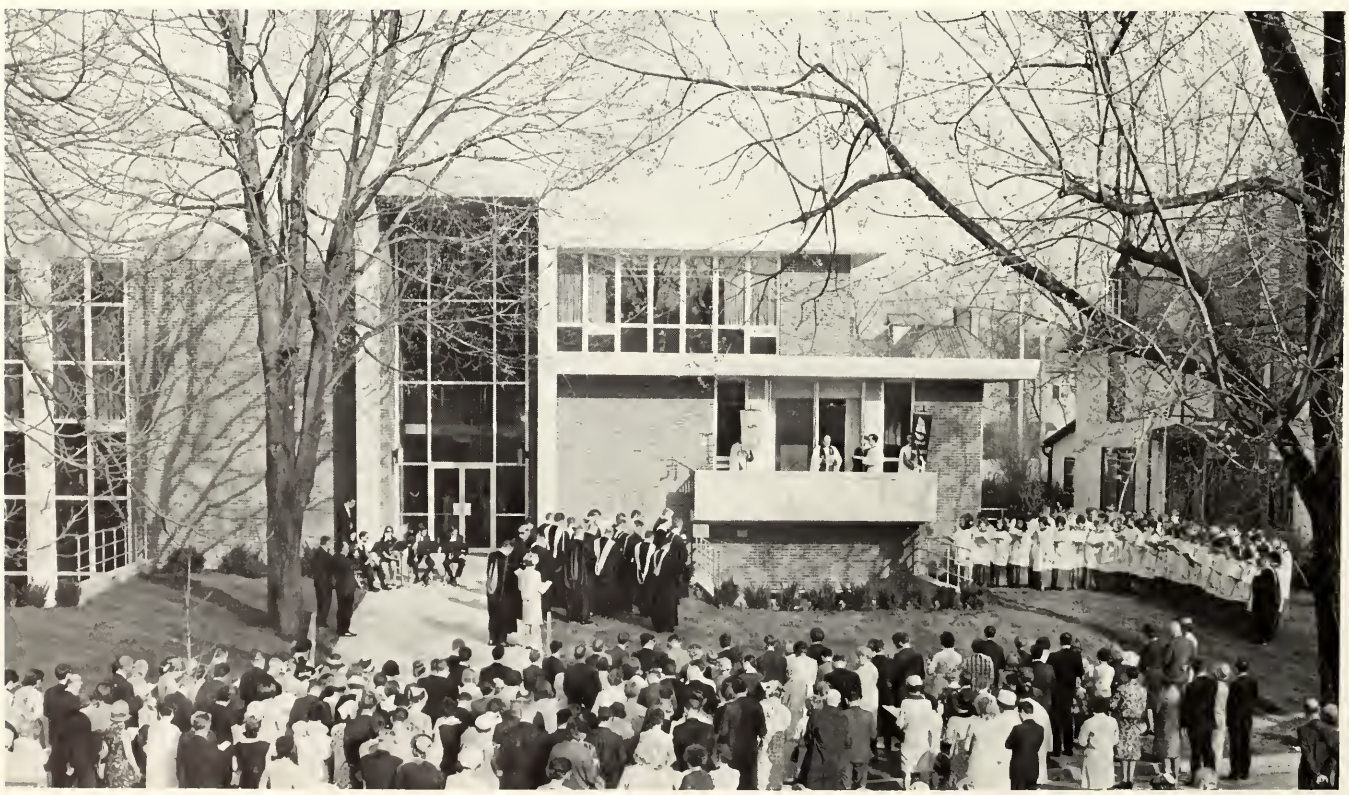
Dedication

Welcome to Krieg Hall!



"Wittenberg, 1967"

Of Krieg Hall

An honorary degree is awarded to composer Zimmerman.

Climaxing a four-day festival of concerts, lectures, and recitals Wittenberg dedicated its sparkling new $1,500,000 School of Music building, Krieg Hall, April 9. The building, in use since January 2, is named in honor of the late Mrs. Sara D. Krieg of Canton, Ohio, who made a large annuity gift to the University in 1955. Guest of honor at the dedication service was Mrs. Harold O. Thomas of Canton, daughter of Mrs. Krieg.

The new building represents years of anticipation and planning for the School of Music dean, Dr. L. David Miller, the music faculty, and the students who had formerly been housed in seven different locations on campus.

The honorary Doctor of Music degree was conferred upon Heinz Werner Zimmerman, director of the Church Music School in Berlin-Spandau, Germany. The first performance of Dr. Zimmerman's composition, "Wittenberg, 1967," was performed in concert April 8.

With the installation and initiation of the Arrow and Mask Chapter of Mortar Board, the work and planning of many people became a reality. After more than five years of preparation, permission to petition was received this past summer. Wittenberg formally petitioned in February of this year and received official notification of acceptance on March 16. The installation of Arrow and Mask Chapter established the one hundred and twenty-fourth Mortar Board chapter and the ninth in Ohio.

Parents, alumni, administrators, faculty members, and students participated in the day's events, which included a speech by Miss Genevieve Blatt on "Women's Role in Society," a reception, and the installation and initiation of the members by Miss Ruth Weimer.

Honors Convocation

Wittenberg students, administrators, and faculty members gathered May 13 for the annual Honors Convocation in Weaver Chapel. Appearing in their academic robes for the first time, members of the Class of 1967 enjoyed listening to a speech given by Dr. Paul Glasoe, professor of chemistry. Following his speech last year's missing plaque was presented to this year's missing Student Senate president, Larry Maukonen. Bill Barrett, president of the Class of 1967, presented the senior class gift, a piece of statuary for the new science building, to President John N. Stauffer.

Ten underclass men and women, all recipients of the 1967-68 Presidential Scholarships, were recognized for academic excellence. Climaxing the convocation was the announcement of the 1967-68 Alma Mater, Miss Becky Warner.

After the convocation the traditional Oak and Ivy Orations were given outside Recitation Hall. The Oak Oration was given by Dan Sonner with Mr. Gordon Hartwig responding. Jane Lasch gave the Ivy Oration and Mrs. Imogene Bolls the response.

Parents'

Parent's Weekend found many moms and dads coming to campus to participate in numerous planned activities. Included in the first "Festival of the Arts" were performances by the Wittenberg Choir, the Collegium Musicum, and the Wind Ensemble. Art students displayed their work and demonstrated the techniques of their art, while members of the Theatre Guild performed "Spoon River Anthology" and "The Waltz of the Toreadors" by Jean Anhouilh. This French comedy was a farcial adventure of wines and mistresses, and the cast had as much fun performing as the audience did watching.

A highlight of the weekend was the annual Alma Mater Pageant. Miss Becky Warner was crowned 1967 Alma Mater by 1966 Alma Mater Shirley Pray. In her new post Becky will be representative of the highest ideals of Wittenberg.

Weekend

Tension and excitement marked the annual Fraternity and Sorority Sings. Copping first place trophies were Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Second place went to Phi Kappa Psi and Alpha Delta Pi, and third place to Lambda Chi Alpha and Delta Gamma.

Alumni

Day

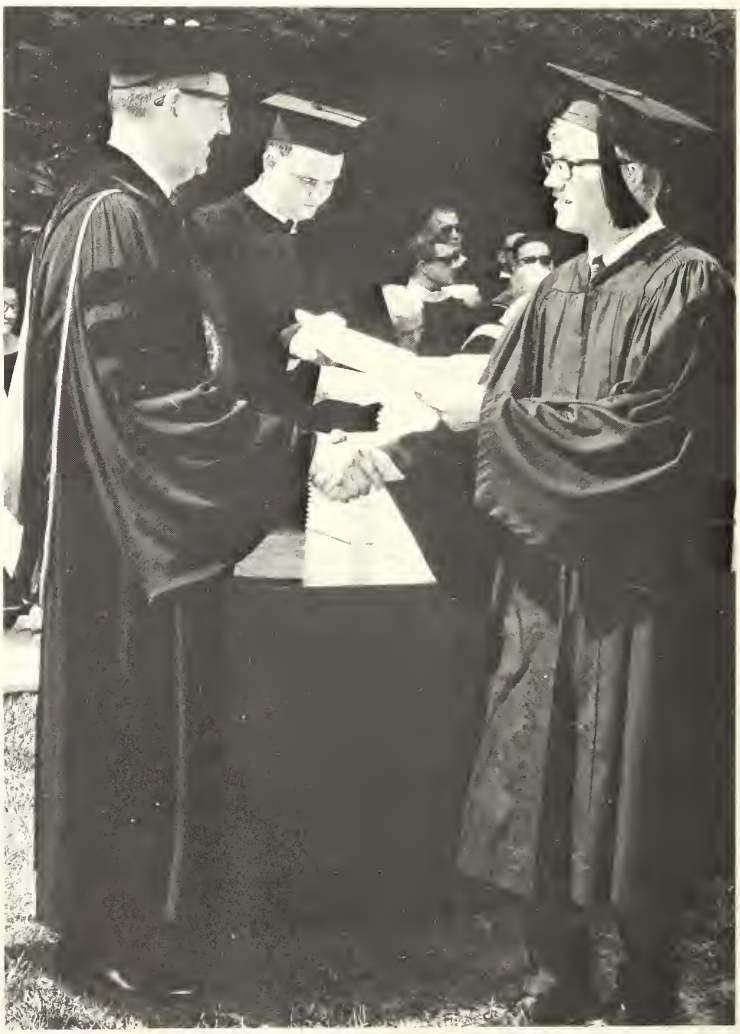
Approximately 450 alumni, representing eleven alumni classes, returned to campus Saturday, June 10, to take part in traditional Alumni Day. On the agenda were a Varsity Breakfast, an Alumni Association meeting, a President's Reception in and tour of Tower Hall, campus tours in antique and classic automobiles, and class reunion dinners on and off campus. On Sunday morning men's and women's honor societies held their annual breakfasts, followed by a worship service in Weaver Chapel.

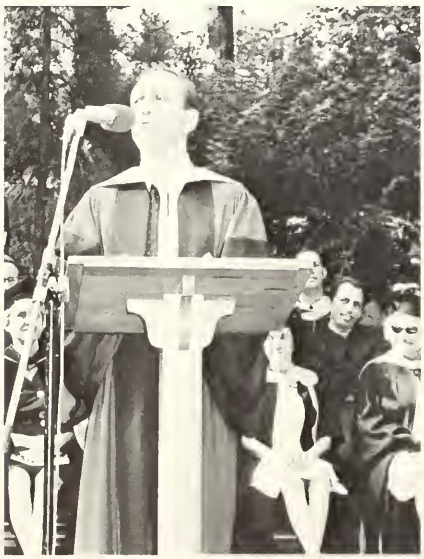
Commencement

Four hundred fifty-two bachelor degrees and 67 masters degrees were awarded to Wittenbergers at the 122nd Commencement, June 12, among myriads of smiles and tears and memories of years filled with challenge and excitement.

Look, Mom! I made it!

Honorary degrees were conferred upon Malcolm B. Stinson, John L. Wolf, and Aubrey R. Bowen.





Dr. John Brademas speaking on "The New University."

Approximately 150 members of the Class of 1967 planned to continue their educations at graduate and professional schools, while many began work in their chosen fields—education, business, government, social work, nursing, industry, the sciences, and research, among others. Some members entered the Service and the Peace Corps.

"Summas" were Bob Rohde, Joyce Rittenhouse, Stephen Barnes, and Peggy Fox.

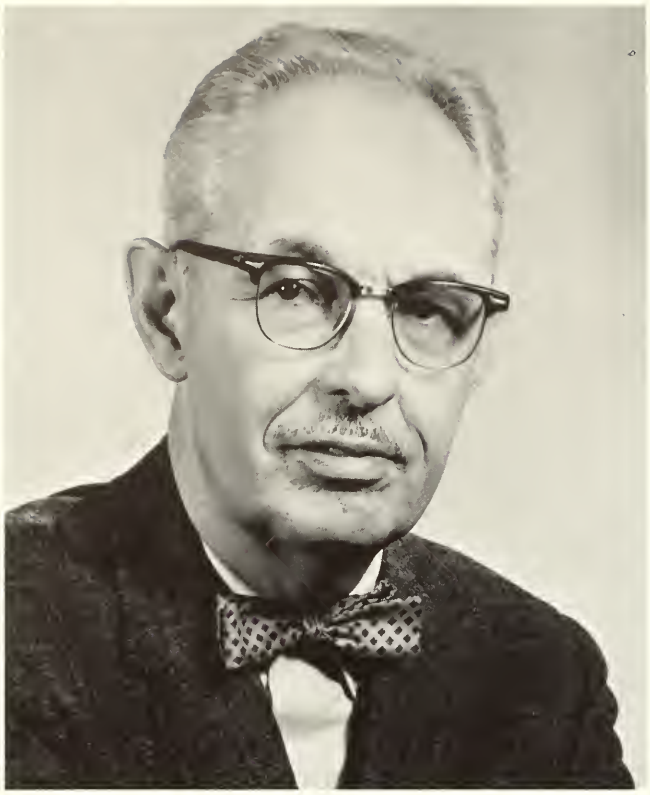
The President

The position of president of a university is one that requires an ability to coordinate the many and varied aspects of an institution of higher learning. Dr. John N. Stauffer, President of Wittenberg University, has assumed a role of competent leadership in setting high goals in all phases of university life. Whether addressing a meeting of the Board of Directors, conducting a panel discussion during a Symposium, greeting parents at the Dad's Day football game, or discussing student problems at a Presidential Background Conference, President Stauffer is constantly striving to make Wittenberg a university that offers its students a liberal arts education of the highest quality.

DR. JOHN N. STAUFFER
President of Wittenberg University

Administration



DR. W. EMERSON RECK
Vice President

Dr. W. Emerson Reck, Vice President of the University, assists the President in planning and coordinating over-all University objectives. He also works with the Board of Directors to plan long-range programs for Wittenberg. An alumnus of Wittenberg, Dr. Reck has also served both Midland College in Nebraska, and Colgate University in New York as the Director of Public Relations.

MR. HOWARD I. WESTIN
Assistant to the Vice President-Treasurer

DR. ROLAND C. MATTHIES
Vice President-Treasurer

Dr. Roland C. Matthies, as Vice President and Treasurer of the University, is concerned with the financial development of Wittenberg. He is responsible for fund-raising through Church support, government funds, and individual or group contributions. Dr. Matthies directs Wittenberg's entire development program.

Business Office

As Business Manager, Mr. Louis H. Fitch's duties encompass developing business administration objectives, policies, and programs. His responsibilities include office management, purchasing, accounting, the Cashier's Office, the operation and maintenance of buildings and grounds, and insurance for the University.

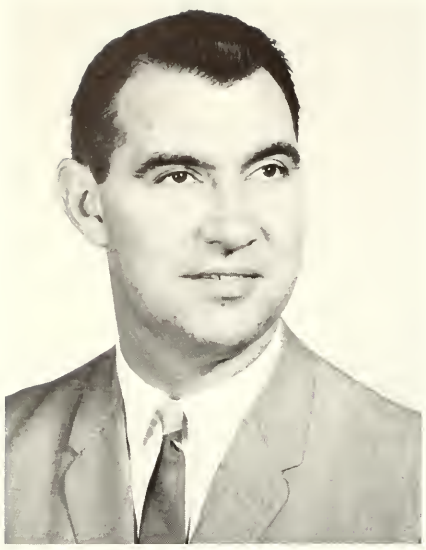
MR. LOUIS H. FITCH
Business Manager

Development Office

The Development Office had the task of planning projects and fund-raising for the University. It covers the areas of public relations, church relations, and alumni relations. Church appropriations and campaigns for additional funds from foundations, business, and industry are managed by the Development Office.

LESTER S. CROWL
Director of Development

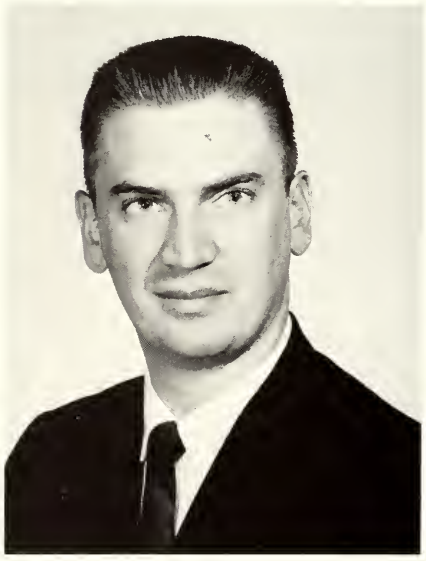
H. DAVID STUCKY
Associate Director of Development



PERK ROBINS
Alumni Secretary

Alumni Office

The Alumni Office is the liaison between the university and the alumni. Now located in the new Alumni House, the office raises money through the annual Alumni Fund, organizes and supervises Alumni Clubs, and plans such activities as Alumni Day in June, Founder's Day in March, and Homecoming in the Fall. The office also maintains complete records of all Wittenberg alumni.



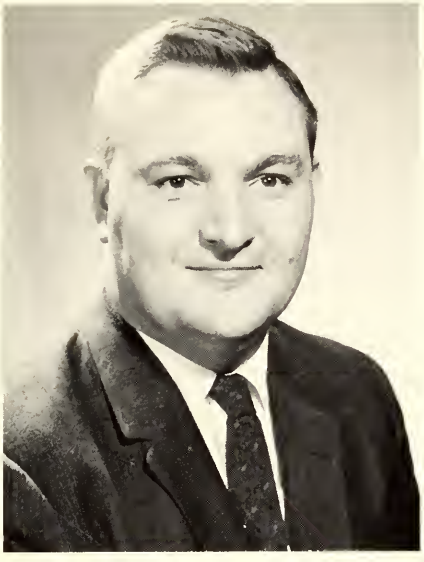
ROBERT BUCHY
Associate Alumni Secretary

EUGENE ROLLER
Registrar

Registrar

The Registrar's Office schedules the entire curriculum of the university and has the sole responsibility for the registration of all students. The office also maintains all student records, processes and sends out grades at the end of each term, and files a transcript for each student. In order to protect a student's records, the records are kept through the originals and by the use of microfilm, aperture cards, and magnetic tape.

University Editor
Publicity Office



F. KENNETH DICKERSON
University Editor

All information about the activities, achievements, and policies of Wittenberg are brought to the attention of the public through the efforts of the Publicity Office. The primary responsibility of the office is to maintain contact with local and area newspapers and with the hometown newspapers of each student.

This year the Publicity Office won the Silver Anvil award in connection with the Around the World Tour made by the Wittenberg Choir. University Editor, Ken Dickerson, and his staff publish the Alumnus. Mr. Dickerson is also the advisor to the Witt, and Mr. Norris advises the Torch.

Admissions

WILSON E. HOGE
Dean of Admissions

The future of the Wittenberg University student body depends upon the work of the Admissions Office. From the middle of September through December, Dean Hoge visits High Schools all over the United States. The office is constantly involved with interviewing the prospective students, arranging campus tours, and evaluating the applications from all prospective students. It is the latter effort that is the main responsibility of the Admissions Office—the careful processing of all applications for admission and aid.

Student Personnel Office

ROBERT O. LONG
Dean of Students

HEIMTRAUT DIETRICH
Associate Dean of Students

EDWIN D. HEUSINKVELD
Associate Dean of Students

The Student Personnel Office is concerned basically with the non-academic aspects of the University. It provides many services to the students and the over-all campus community. The office provides an orientation program for new students, assigns housing to all students, administers a comprehensive testing program, and administers financial aid. Student counseling is one of the most important facets of the office.

As Dean of Students, Dr. Robert O. Long integrates the various duties and aspects of the Student Personnel Office. The Associate Deans of Students, Miss Heimtraut Dietrich and Dr. Edwin D. Heusinkveld, work closely with the students. Miss Dietrich is responsible for freshman counseling and women's housing. She is also the advisor for Pan-Hellenic Council, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Arrow and Mask. Dean Heusinkveld handles both individual and institutional testing programs, all computations of group grades and the statistics connected with them. Dean Heusinkveld is also the advisor to IFC.

HERBERT DANKERT
Student Counselor, Placement Director

Mr. Herbert Dankert, Student Counselor and Director of Placement, works closely with the students. He gives vocational guidance, places students in on-and-off campus employment, and brings post-graduation opportunities to the attention of undergraduates.

Mrs. Margaret S. Ermarth, supplementing her duties in the History Department, works closely with Mr. Dankert in the area of graduate and foreign study opportunities.

Student Personnel Staff

Mr. William H. Porter, as Director of Student Aid, is responsible for the administration of financial assistance and related counseling.

Health Center

Wittenberg emphasizes the importance of good health for all its students. Under the direction of Dr. John S. Hopping and with the assistance of his staff, the University Health Center offers health counseling and medical treatment.

In April, 1967, the Ohio College Health Association held its annual meeting on Wittenberg's campus. Dr. Hopping served as the conference chairman and was elected President of the Association.

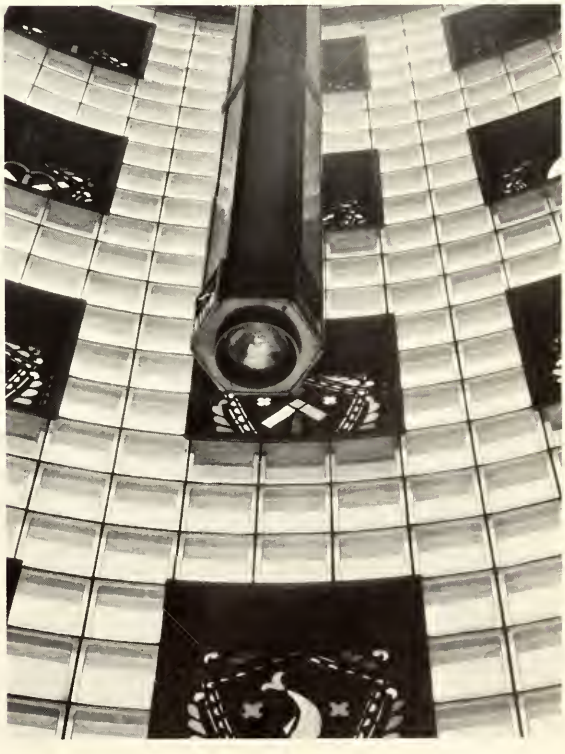
Never mind, it's too late.

Chapel

ROBERT E. KARSTEN
Pastor to the University

The influence of the activity in Weaver Chapel can be felt throughout the campus. The Reverend Robert Karsten, Pastor to the University, and his assistant Stephen Kurth, have added great depth to the religious experience on campus through experimentation with various liturgies and chapel services, through guest speakers, and through the formation of confirmation classes.

This year, Pastor Karsten was named to the Committee of the Commission on Evangelism of the Lutheran Church in America.



DR. ALLAN O. PFNISTER,
Dean of the College

College of Arts and Sciences

The office of the Dean of the College is at the core of the university, developing the objectives and policies of the college. Dean Allan O. Pfnister is concerned with the over-all planning for the entire undergraduate program and thus works closely with many other departments of the university. He resides over faculty meetings and is an ex-officio member of every faculty committee, but works primarily with the committees responsible for the general administration of the curriculum and the educational policies committee.

DR. WILLIAM R. MATTHEWS
Associate Dean of the College

Dr. William R. Matthews, as Associate Dean of the College, plays a primary role with Dean Pfnister in the development of general policy and in dealing with faculty and students.

Dr. Gary H. Quehl, Assistant Dean of the College, is also the Director of Institutional Research for Wittenberg.

DR. GARY H. QUEHL
Director of Institutional Research

ELIZABETH E. POWELSON, Chairman of the Department; Associate Professor; A.B., Oberlin College; M.A., Wellesley College; Ph.D., Indiana University.

Biology

The Biology Department works to instill within the student a greater appreciation for the complexities of life for both the major and non-major student. Funds from various grants have provided equipment for introductory courses, but primarily for the advanced courses.

This year, under the new curriculum, the members of the department have devoted themselves to the development of the audio-tutorial system in teaching the introductory course, "Continuity of Life." This involves the application of a multi-sensory approach to the laboratory work which brings together a great array of materials each explaining some facet of the work better than another. The Department believes that as a result, students will achieve a greater understanding of, and appreciation for, the science of biology.

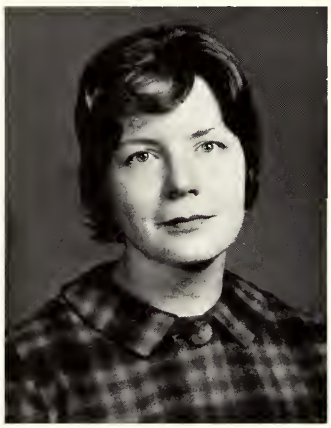
NATHAN J. BOLLS, Assistant Professor; B.S., M.S., Ph.D., Kansas State University.



GLORIA CASSENS, Assistant Professor; B.S., Northwestern University; M.A., Indiana University.

RICHARD E. CRANG, Assistant Professor; B.S., Eastern Illinois State University; M.A., State University of South Dakota; Ph.D., University of Iowa.

LOUIS J. LAUX, Assistant Professor; A.B., M.A., Hofstra College.

DONALD E. WATSON, Assistant Professor; B.A., University of Colorado; M.S., University of Hawaii; Ph.D., University of Nebraska.

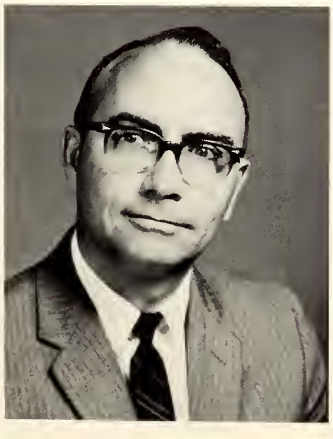
Chemistry

The Chemistry courses at Wittenberg are aimed to give the student a grounding in chemistry adequate to his particular need. Chemistry majors can take courses which will fulfill the requirements for certification by the American Chemical Society and be fully qualified for graduate work. If his aim is not graduate school, the major can follow a course of study as an auxiliary to his professional objectives. Within the department the emphasis falls on fundamental principles and research orientation in laboratory work.

The department has received grants from the Research Corporation, the National Science Foundation and the Petroleum Research Fund. Students have been working on these projects this year. The aim of the department is to have all majors planning a career in chemistry to be involved with research at some stage in his undergraduate development.

During this year, Dr. Paul Glasoe, chairman of the chemistry department, was selected as the first academic representative ever to serve on the Board of Regents of St. Olaf College in Minnesota.

PAUL K. GLASOE, Chairman of the Department; B.A., St. Olaf College; Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.



HOWARD M. CURRY, Professor; B.S., Northeastern University; M.A., Ph.D., Boston University.

ROLF HAHNE, Assistant Professor; B.S., Stanford University; M.A., Columbia University; Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

DAVID WESTNEAT, Associate Professor; B.S., Allegheny College; Ph.D., University of Pittsburgh.

EVERETT H. BUSH, Chairman of the Department; Associate Professor; B.S. State College, Westfield, Massachusetts; M.A., Clark University.

Geography

The Geography Department is designed to study man and his relationship to his physical and cultural environment. Courses are offered in the areas of economic, political and urban geography, regional geography, climetology, and cartography.

MARTIN JOHNSON, Assistant Professor; A.B., M.A., Syracuse University.

AUDREY M. JOHNSON, Assistant Professor; B.S., M.S., Ohio State University.

Home Economics

The program on family living has been planned to provide students with some of the skills, techniques, and understanding which are essential for dealing successfully with the many every day situations which confront homemakers in modern family living. The Family Living Program taken in conjunction with selected courses in other departments will provide students not only with a broad and comprehensive knowledge of family life, but also with some of the skills and techniques which should be helpful in meeting the responsibilities of modern family living.

Geology

FLOYD R. NAVE, Chairman of the Department; Associate Professor; A.B., Augustana College; M.S., State University of Iowa.

THOMAS A. GERRARD, Assistant Professor; B.S., University of Cincinnati; M.S., Miami University; Ph.D. University of Arizona.

HAROLD W. SUNDELIUS, Assistant Professor; A.B., Augustana College; M.S., Ph.D., University of Wisconsin.

The purpose of the Geology Department is to acquaint the non-major with some of the fundamental principles and concepts of Geology so that he will have a greater understanding about the earth on which he lives. To the geology major, the department gives a strong foundation for a future in some area of professional geology.

New members of the Geology department are Thomas Gerrard, Assistant Professor, and Robert C. Minning, Graduate Assistant.

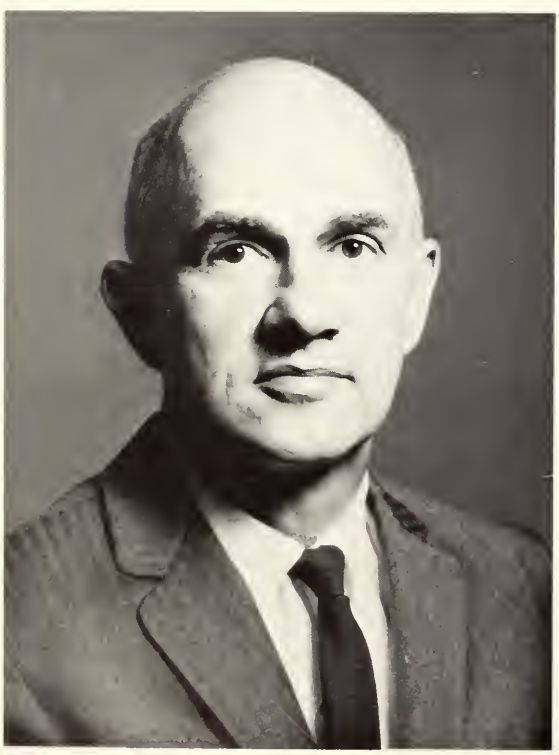
This year the department received an NSF Undergraduate Scientific Equipment Grant of $16,600, half of which was given by Wittenberg. The grant will be used for new X-ray diffraction equipment for courses in Minerology and Petrology and also for independent study. The department is also eagerly awaiting the completion of the new Science Building in which Geology will occupy one floor.

The Geology Club, sponsored by this department, has had a busy year. The club hosted the Ohio Intercollegiate Field Conference in the fall. During spring vacation, the members went on a field trip to study the geology of the Gulf Coastal Plains of Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. This spring, another field trip was planned to the Fluorite Mining District of Southern Illinois.

Mathematics

The Mathematics Department seeks to provide for the student majoring in mathematics the opportunity of gaining the basic concepts, enabling him to continue his studies on the graduate level, to enter the teaching profession at the secondary level, or to embark on a career in government or industry related to his field. The department believes that this approach assures the best preparation for specialization during graduate school, or on the job training in industry. Through individual research projects, conducted during the student's last two years of college, each mathematics major becomes acquainted with one or two highly specialized problems in his field.

In June of 1966 a year-long training program for elementary and junior high school teachers of Clark County was begun with the financial support of the National Science Foundation. Other funds from this foundation have been used to improve the Mathematic periodicals in Thomas Library, providing valuable research material for the undergraduate students.



S. W. HAHN, Chairman of the Department; A.B., Lenoir Rhyne College; M.A., Duke University; Ph.D., Duke University.

ROBERT D. BAER, Instructor; B.S., Wittenberg; M.S., Ohio State University.

STANLEY DICE, Associate Professor; A.B., Oberlin College; M.Litt., University of Pittsburgh; Ph.D., University of Pittsburgh.

NORMAN DODSON, Associate Professor; A.B., Berea College; M.A., University of Alabama.

RICHARD FINE, Instructor; A.B., Gettysburg College; M.S., University of Minnesota.

RAYMOND L. KRUGER, Professor; A.B., M.A., University of Illinois; Ph.D., Marquette University.

ERIC L. WILSON, Assistant Professor; B.S., Westminster College; Ph.D., Vanderbilt University.

Physics

For its majors, the Physics Department presents a well-balanced sequence of twelve courses in addition to independent study. This program prepares capable students for professional employment or entrance into one of the country's graduate schools.

Appropriate parts of the twelve course sequence serve the needs of pre-engineering students, as well as those of the students in other sciences and mathematics preparing for teaching at the secondary level. A separate two course sequence presents the fundamentals of physics without calculus; and a single course, discussing topics from physics to astronomy, fills the cultural gap for the non-science major.

With the completion of the new Science Building the Physics Department will occupy a lecture room, five laboratories for teaching purposes, four laboratories for faculty-student research projects, and a shop. In addition to the standard equipment for elementary lab work the department has excellent equipment for advanced work, much of which has been purchased with grants from the National Science Foundation and the Atomic Energy Commission.

JACK L. FLINNER, Associate Professor; A.B., Wittenberg; M.S., University of Illinois; Ph.D., Ohio State University.

WALLACE GIFFEN, Assistant Professor; B.S., Westminster College; M.S., Syracuse University.

M. PAUL HAGELBERG, Associate Professor; B.S., M.S., Ph.D., Michigan State University.

ARTHUR LUTZ, Chairman of the Department; Professor; B.S., Capital University; M.S., Ph.D., Ohio State University.

FRANK D. WHITE, Associate Professor; A.B., Iowa State Teachers College; M.A., State University of Iowa; B.S., Ohio State University.

WOODROW WILSON, Chairman of the Department; Associate Professor; B.S., Ohio State University; B.S., in Ed., Ohio State University; M.A., Ed.D., University of Denver.

The Business Administration Department has five major areas of study; accounting, business management, marketing, finance and secretarial science. These fields of study prepare a student for jobs immediately following graduation or for completion of a master's degree program within a minimum length of time.

The Alpha Chapter of Tau Pi Phi is the national business administration honorary located within the department. Membership requires fifteen hours of business administration and/or economy with a grade point average of 3.0 or better and an over-all cumulative average of 2.7 or better. Tau Pi Phi was founded to encourage scholarship, to bring students into closer contact with outstanding businessmen, to increase understanding of commercial practices and to encourage idealism and good ethics in business.

Economics

The Economics Department has as its central object to assist in "adding a breadth of vision to all students whose studies and lives are bound up in part by economic issues." The department also prepares students for graduate study in economics and for careers in law, business, and government service.

The Witt-Econ Forum is a student directed club designed to develop an increased interest in economic problems.

The quote "The Education Department, like every other facet of the University is continuing to re-evaluate and up grade", has led to a tightening of policy to fulfill an increasing demand for teacher efficiency. This has shown that the department takes seriously its committment to prepare high caliber teachers for the public schools. The teacher training curriculum is designed to permit students to meet certification requirements of the State of Ohio as well as those of other states. Students may seek certification at the elementary level, in specific subject areas at the secondary level, or in special fields such as Music, Art, or remedial teaching.

The department also serves as advisor to the two education organizations on campus, The Wittenberg University Student Education Association, and Kappa Delta Epsilon, national education fraternity.

The department is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education, the largest council for such accreditation in the United States.

English

The many activities of the English Department all center around its role of bringing to students an understanding and enjoyment of the many phases of our language and its literature. Another important function is the department's role of providing elementary literature, theater and the speech arts as a background for students whatever their future plans of interests. Bringing literature closer to the students were Robert Wallace and W. H. Auden who presented readings of their work.

Dr. Conrad Balliet spent this year teaching and studying in Austria. Dr. John Ostrom was on sabbatical leave traveling in England and Eastern Europe during the spring term. Dr. Ostrom has recently had his book The Letters of Edgar Allen Poe republished.

This spring twenty-seven students accompanied by Dr. Allen J. Koppenhaver spent ten weeks in England traveling and studying at the University of Exeter to fulfill course requirements for one term. These students attended lectures in the areas of literary criticism, poetry, nineteenth century English novel, seventeenth century English drama, and a special series of lectures on the works of Shakespeare.

The University Theater spent another busy year presenting outstanding productions. In November, the Theater gave an excellent presentation of Marat-Sadi by Petu Weiss. The University Theater was one of the first amateur companies in the United States to present this play. Other plays include Malmedy: Case 6-24 and Waltz of the Toreadores.

As the bridge between the social sciences and the humanities, the History and Political Science Department is in a strategic position to influence thought and action on Wittenberg's campus.

Housed in Zimmerman Hall, the department is full of activity and excitement. Various areas of study are open to the student to relate the department to the needs of a diverse student body: survey courses in the various national areas, advanced courses which take advantage of the particular interests and training of the professors, reading courses for independent study, and a philosophy of history course. These areas are entered through research, interpretation, and narration.

This year, Dr. Robert G. Hartje, chairman of the department, was awarded the Wittenberg Alumni Association's Distinguished Teacher Award.

The central purpose of the Language Department is to acquaint students with, and encourage interest in the language, customs, history, and literature of foreign countries. The department offers instruction in French, Spanish, German, Russian, Greek, and Latin. The course of study includes grammar, vocabulary, conversation, composition, and literature. Thus, the study of language can be seen as one of the important parts of a liberal arts education.

The general purpose of the language honoraries is to stimulate an interest in advanced studies in the field and to further an understanding between our nation and the nations using these languages.

L. DAVID MILLER, Dean of the School of Music; Professor; A.B., Mus.D., Lenoir Rhyne College; B.D., Lutheran Southern Seminary; M.S.M., Union Theological Seminary.

Wittenberg has been undergoing many transitions this year. One of the major changes has been the transition of the School of Music from a department of the College to a separate division of the University. Dr. L. David Miller has become the first Dean of this new division.

This change in status coincided with the completion of the $1,350,000 Krieg Hall, the new home for the School of Music. This beautiful addition to the campus contains five large classrooms, large instrumental and choral rehearsal rooms, organ practice rooms, and forty rooms for piano and instrumental practice. In addition, Krieg Hall houses faculty studios, an electronics laboratory and its own library. Krieg Hall is built around an outside court that may be used for recitals or for presentations of dramatic events and films.

The School of Music sponsors many campus groups including the Woodwind Ensemble, Syncopates, Collegium Musicum, the two honorary music fraternities Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, and the Wittenberg Choir.

During the summer of 1966, seventy-seven members of the Wittenberg Choir spent two months touring around the world. They presented forty-eight concerts of sacred and American folk music from California to Greece. Plans are now underway for a South American tour during the summer of 1968.

Philosophy

ROBERT G. REMSBERG, Chairman of the Department; Professor; A.B., M.A., Wittenberg; B.D., Hamma School of Theology; Ph.D., Columbia University.

The Philosophy Department is concerned with all aspects of life. Its role is to stimulate the student to search his thoughts and become a better person. Philosophy helps the student to become more perceptive and critical in his daily life, activities, and his field of endeavor. To accomplish this end, the department offers courses in logic, ethics, history of philosophy, and current issues.

An ever-growing department, the Philosophy Department now has three full-time instructors and three part-time associates. In October of 1967 another full-time instructor will be added to the staff. Presently, Dr. Benjamin Vila, Dr. Robert Long, and Dr. Allen Pfnister, are teaching on a part-time basis.

BRUCE L. HARRIS, Instructor; A.B., Drury College; M.A., University of Michigan.

VISVALDIS V. KLIVE, Associate Professor; A B., Wittenberg; M.A., Columbia University; B.D., Union Theological Seminary; Ph.D., Columbia University.

Religion

Religion is the search for the values of the ideal life. The Religion Department centers upon the various responses to this quest. The student is encouraged to think openly about his own religious beliefs and those of others in order to get a total perspective of life and to respond to the ultimate questions which life continues to raise.

The Religion Department is divided into four areas of study: Bible, History of Religions, History of Christian Thought, and Current Religious Thought. The department seeks non-majors as well as majors since it is hoped that a Wittenberg student will have a basic understanding of the Old and New Testaments, and will have a perspective of current religious problems and theology.

This past year, Dr. Shanor has been representing Wittenberg in a group working on a cooperative program for the study of religion in higher education in southwest Ohio. Mr. Graef has been active on the Exchange Program Committee at Wittenberg.

HERBERT C. WOLF, Associate Professor; A.B., Johns Hopkins University; B.D., Lutheran Theological Seminary; M.A., University of Chicago.

Psychology

The Psychology Department seeks to make students aware of the experiences and behavior of others as well as their own. By majoring in psychology the student opens the door to careers in the various branches of the field, such as experimental and industrial psychology, and pychometrics. Besides the regular curriculum, the department offers non-credit courses in study techniques and development reading.

Active service in the community through visits to the Columbia State Hospital and the training of children in personal hygiene at the Town and Country School for Retarded Children is the concern of the national psychology honorary, Psi Chi.

ROLAND H. ROSELIUS, Associate Professor; A.B., University of Dubuque; M.A., University of Nebraska; Ph.D., Ohio State University.

Sociology

The Sociology Department guides the students to an understanding of man, behavior, and culture in preparation for graduate study, social work, teaching, and governmental or industrial work. Visits to courts and correctional institutions, interviews with staffs of public and private agencies, and discussions with visiting resource speakers add to the classroom lectures.

Mr. Arthur Markendorf and Dr. Aaron Bindman have joined the staff this year. Dr. Bindman has been the director of the Upward Bound program. Mr. Markendorf is active in the American Sociological Association and the Ohio Valley Sociological Society. Dr. Schrag, Chairman of the Human Relations Committee, is on the Urban League Advisory Board. Mr. Peterson is a member of the Clark County Children's Welfare Board. Dr. Hertz, active in many community organizations, is a Springfield City Commissioner.

Many of the students in the Sociology Department and classes have joined with students from Antioch College and Wilberforce College to square dance with the patients at the Dayton State Hospital.

Fine Arts

JOHN O. SCHLUMP, Chairman of the Department; Assistant Professor; B.F.A., B.S. in Ed., M.A. Michigan State University.

The Fine Arts Department, offering courses within a wide range of interests and abilities, has again seen another year of change and development.

The department is concerned with the academic and artistic quality of its majors as well as the campus as a whole. The Fundamentals of Art course, offered for the first time this year, is geared to promote aesthetic appreciation for those who are not particularly interested in art as a major.

Seeking excellence in education and the fine arts, the department is particular to provide for individual interest and opportunity. The climate is a comfortable one in which its community many obtain fundamental principles in each area, increasing skill in particular fields, and individuality of style and philosophy.

New in the department this year are Mr. Osbun and Mr. LaMalfa. Mr. LaMalfa is now investigating the possibilities of a foundry for bronze casting, and he has utilized new techniques of fiberglass sculpture in this year's curriculum. Mr. Thompson, now back from his sabbatical leave, has been lecturing and touring with his exhibit produced during his leave.

The Fine Arts Department serves through lectures and instruction, through an outstanding program involving Upward Bound, and by a sincere effort to make available its time and facilities for the campus and community.

DON M. DUNIFON, Instructor; B.F.A., Wittenberg; M.A., Columbia University.

ELMO C. JURKAT, Associate Professor; A.B., B.S., Cedarville College; M.A., Ohio State University.

JAMES T. LAMALFA, Instructor; B.S., M.S., M.F.A., University of Wisconsin.

RALSTON C. THOMPSON, Professor; A.B., Wittenberg; M.F.A., Ohio State University.

School of Community Education

A. EDWARD PATMOS, Dean, School of Community Education; Professor; A.B., M.A., New York University.

The School of Community Education has the responsibility of making the facilities of the University available to those people of the community who wish to continue their education as part-time students. This is done through a variety of programs: the evening school, continuing education courses, off-campus courses, and the Management Development Program.

The Management Development Program is an adult education program consisting of a series of week-long management courses for supervisory personnel. The courses cover the areas of Pschology, Communications, Economics, and Management.

WALTER H. GAFNER, Instructor; B.A., Hofstra University; M.A., Trinity University.

RAYMOND A. KLINE, Instructor; A.B., Wittenberg; M.B.A., Indiana University.

Early in September the Hamma-Wittenberg community had its first opportunity to get acquainted with the President-elect Frederick K. Wentz, formerly professor of historical theology at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Through a whirlwind of receptions and dinners the community met and applauded the board's choice of new leadership. Dr. Wentz succeeded Dr. John Rilling who left Hamma's top post to serve LCA Lutherans in Ohio as their Synod President. Dr. Wentz assumed his duties September 21.

In 1842 the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Ohio resolved to establish a literary and theological institution. As a result Wittenberg College was founded and received a charter from the State of Ohio on March 11, 1845.

A Lutheran pastor, Ezra Keller, was the first professor and soon became the first president. He began the instruction of four theological students at Wooster in May, 1844, and continued with them when the institution was moved to Springfield the next year.

For a quarter of a century the theological department of Wittenberg continued to prepare candidates for the ministry. With the expansion of its staff and curriculum it became known as the Wittenberg Theological Seminary. After 1907 it received the name Hamma Divinity School of Wittenberg College in tribute to Dr. and Mrs. Michael Wolfe Hamma. In 1964, the seminary was given an independent status within the university structure, now having its own Board of Directors and president, and changing its name to Hamma School of Theology.

More than a thousand graduates have gone into pastoral service. Many graduates have entered the chaplaincy, mission field, theological education, and responsible positions in the Lutheran Church in America. There has also been a notable history of scholarship and literary productivity on the part of Hamma's faculty.

The primary purpose of Hamma School of Theology is to train faithful and competent ministers of the Word of God. Its theology is positively and constructively Lutheran, based on the historic creeds and confessions of the Church of the Reformation. It encourages and prepares students of suitable endowments for graduate study, and assistance is given in securing scholarships for graduates at universities here and abroad.

A special interest in missions, in the home land and overseas, has always been cultivated. Many graduates are now serving in foreign lands and more than 100 have given their lives to foreign missions.

Ecumenical Lutheranism holds its place in the main stream of interest at Hamma. Students are kept in vital touch with contemporary movements for Lutheran unity on this continent and in the world. Members of the faculty play important roles in these movements and encourage their students to lift their sights above parish boundaries to the world mission of the church.

Wittenberg is supported by two synods of the Lutheran Church in America—Ohio and Indiana-Kentucky. These synods elect directors to the Board of Directors, who govern the institution as a whole. Hamma is supported solely by the Ohio Synod, and Seminary matters are the responsibility of the Seminary Board, which has representation from the Ohio Synod and from the Lutheran Church in America.

Student Court

The Student Court is founded on the principle that all student affairs are rightfully the property of students. The court functions, therefore, as a judicial council in an advisory capacity to the faculty and administration. As students, its members recognize the paradox between community responsibility and individuality. The court attempts to resolve this dichotomy to the best interests of both the individual and the community. In no case does judgment become the official function of the court. Rather, it is a student committee charged with the responsibility of reviewing all cases where students have allegedly violated the fundamental standards of Wittenberg. In this capacity, it serves the needs both of students and administrators.

Senate has appointed a committee to study the honor system on campus.

Under the leadership of Speaker Larry Maukonen, Student Senate, the legislative branch of student government, concerned itself primarily with academic and social affairs. In addition, much time was spent in clarifying the Senate's authority as stated in its provisional constitution.

Resident Assistants

The R. A. Program was greatly expanded this year, giving more students the opportunity to work with the residence hall programs. As extensions of the administrative staff, the R. A.'s lived and worked in the dorms, serving as liaisons between students and staff personnel. The R. A.'s were also freshman counselors during the Freshman Seminar.

Freshman Counselors

Supervised by the Student Personnel Office, the Freshman Counselors have primary responsibility for the orientation program for new students. In this capacity they are on hand to welcome freshmen to campus, help them move in, conduct group orientation meetings, and generally make themselves available at all times to help new students with any problems or questions that may arise.

The Wittenberg Wind Ensemble

Everybody say cheese!

Let's do it again, together this time!

Matt Bender rehearses with the Orchestra for the Concerto Concert.

The Wind Ensemble and Symphony Orchestra represent the instrumental organizations on campus. The Wind Ensemble, formerly the Wittenberg Band, is made up of 50 members who are chosen by audition in the fall term. The Orchestra and Wind Ensemble have presented many concerts during the past academic year.

After a November concert, the Wind Ensemble joined the Orchestra in February for a joint concert. The Orchestra accompanied solo concertos by Diane Olson, Carolyn Thompson, and Matt Bender, while the Wind Ensemble played contemporary band music.

The Wind Ensemble commissioned a work by Dr. Heinz Werner Zimmermann for the Dedication Festival of Krieg Hall in April, and performed a concert during the dedication activities.

May brought the first Festival of the Arts on campus. The Orchestra and Wind Ensemble participated via a joint concert with each group sponsoring a soloist—the Orchestra, Mr. Robert Howat, pianist; the Wind Ensemble, Dr. Eugene Rousseau, saxophonist.

75 Years of Football

In 1892 intercollegiate football came to Wittenberg. That year the Tigers produced a 0-2-1 record. But in 1893 a tradition was established with a 64-0 victory against Heidelberg. For the initial year proved to be the only season in the next 74 years that Wittenberg would not win a football game. With the conclusion of the 1966 campaign, Tiger power and the winning spirit had combined to fashion an overall record of 336 wins, 253 losses, and 28 ties. Many coaches and players deserve credit for this fine record, but none have been as sucessful as William M. "Big Bill" Edwards and the men he has guided.

Tigers in action

Wittenberg's first football team—1892

Edwards, Wittenberg's first All-American (at center in 1929), is presently athletic director and head football coach. In his dozen consecutive winning seasons at Wittenberg, he has led the Tigers to a 84-16-4 mark, including seven Ohio Conference championships and two awards from the Washington Touchdown Club as the nation's best small college team in 1962 and 1964. His additional honors include being the only man ever voted national coach of the year twice in a row (1962 and 1963) and being named Ohio College Coach of the Year in 1957 and 1962.

Coach Edwards in a moment of reflection

Smiles of Success ...

In our 75th year of football Coach Edwards passed another milestone. On October 22—once again against Heidelberg—"Big Bill" gained his 150th lifetime victory. Four more wins brought his overall 22-year coaching record to 154-41-8. Edwards is now one of the elite 12 active college coaches with more than 150 victories.

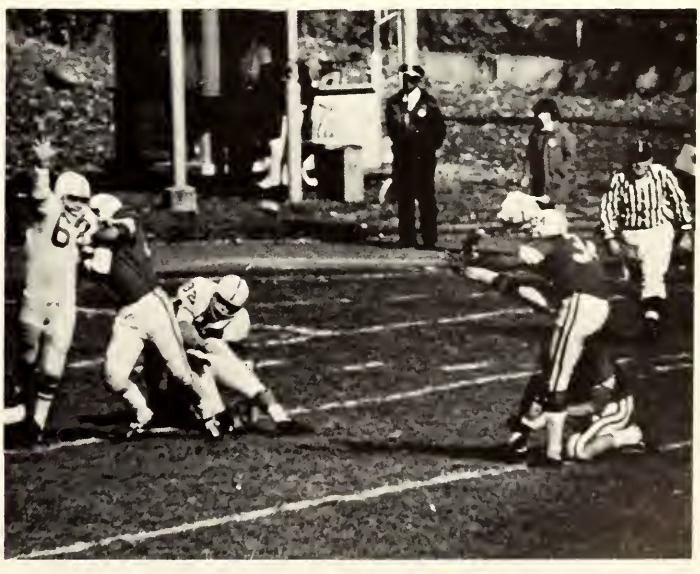
Miller snares another pass for Witt.

Laughman sets the offensive attack.



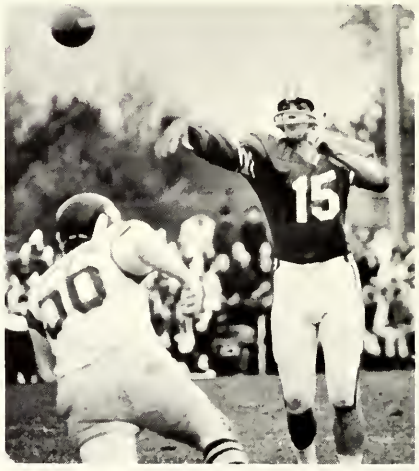
Mitchell boots one of his many placements.

Dorn and the Tigers begin another successful season.

Kicking off the 1966 season with 30 lettermen, the Tiger's explosive offense and defense produced two lopsided shutout wins. In the opener the Checkmates set two Otterbein records, and the following week the offense set an OC record with 35 points in the final quarter. The team's only loss came in the defensive battle against Akron.

Checkmates with a Bishop

Coach Edwards claimed the victory over Baldwin-Wallace, then the nation's third-leading scoring team, one of Wittenberg's "brightest football moments." In the Dad's Day win against Heidelberg the air was filled with footballs as the Tigers passed for 294 yards.



Laughman's accurate tosses ...

and Miller's spectacular grabs led the offensive attack.

Wittenberg kept the Indian Skull and finished undefeated in the OC when Ohio Wesleyan fell before a Homecoming crowd of 6000. It was going to take a lot to stop the Tigers now! Mud couldn't do it, and the fans loved it as Wittenberg shutout Central State. The defeats of Kalamazoo and tough Davidson ended the season.

Hard-driving Hill

Loyal Tiger fans

Post-season honors for the Tigers were soon to come. Wittenberg ranked 19th in the final UPI poll and was considered for the Grantland Rice Bowl. In the NCAA college division statistics the team ranked 7th in defense against scoring and 11th in total defense.

And in our 75th year, Wittenberg came very near a perfect season.

A happy group of freestylers

Bob Rosencrans, in his first year as swimming coach, directed the Tiger tankers to their first undefeated conference season with a 7-0 record. Overall, the team finished 9-2 and placed 3rd in the conference championship where a lack of depth hurt the team against Kenyon (first) and Denison (second).

Fourteen lettermen and talented underclassmen contributed to the team's success, but none more so than Captain Carl Berg. Named MVP for the fourth straight year, the senior freestyler became the first Wittenberg swimmer ever to score more than 500 points in a career as he finished with 553. Holding every freestyle mark from the 100 to the 1000, Berg was cited by Sports Illustrated and included in the "Faces in the Crowd" section.

Highlight of the season was the 58-46 victory over Kenyon, the winner of the OC for fourteen straight years. In the conference finals, Berg and Pfister won individual championships. School and pool records were set by top pointmakers Berg (153¼), Walters (101¾), Buehler (93¾), Pfister (89½), Heath (77), Meyer (73¼), and Norris (54¾).

Although they missed the championship, this was a year of "firsts" for the wrestling team. First-year coach Steve Farrar guided the Tigers to four victories. This was one more than last year and a small measure of success for the team's constant efforts.

Moreover, freshmen dominated the wrestling scene as nine first-year men competed as starters. MVP Ralston's 8-2 record was the best of the grapplers. He and Caruso, Wilt, and McClain won fourth-place medals at the conference championships. Promises were made for next year with five pins in the final match of the regular season.

Rebounding from last year, the basketball team posted an overall 17-7 record. This fine effort ensured Wittenberg's eleventh straight winning season. Moreover, the Tiger cagers captured first place in their 14-team league with a 12-1 conference record.

Excitement in the pre-game huddle

This success resulted not only from the men's hard work, but also from Coach Eldon Miller's philosophy. Faced with 11 lettermen, Miller had to confront the serious problem of morale. The minimal success of '65 (12-11) had to be overcome. He accomplished his goal by combining a stable starting unit with a demanding schedule and strong encouragement. This generated team confidence and fan support—the elements necessary for success in sports.

Throughout the season Mike Duermit and Jim Appleby supplied the scoring punch, Don Corfman and Levi Wingard effectively controlled the boards, and Captain Jim Osborne directed the attack. After winning only five of their first 10 games, the Tigers stormed back to win seven straight before bowing to Otterbein; B-W's upset loss boosted Wittenberg into the regular season championship. However, after two tournament victories, Otterbein triumphed again.

In many respects the season was notable. The team's 17-7 mark was the eighth best in Ohio. In addition they set three single-game records. In the 105-58 victory over Heidelberg the 48 field goals was a new mark, and the 105 points tied the old record. The .938 foul shooting percentage against Akron was also a new record.

Seniors pictured below are J. Readey, B. Rasor, J. Appleby, J. Osborne, B. Forte, and P. Goers, who was to have been a starter, but missed much of the season with a broken ankle.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Most Valuable Player Jim Appleby paced the team in average scoring—17.5—and in shooting percentage—.522. He was also named an Academic All-American, All-Conference first team, and given UPI All-American honorable mention.

Wingard's 252 rebounds led the team, as did Corfman's .825 foul-shooting percentage. Against Illinois Wesleyan Duermit hit a career high of 30.

Coached by Eldon Miller, the cross country team ran to a 2-3 dual meet record. Placing 7th in the OC Relays, 2nd in the Muskingum Invitational, 5th in the Crusader Classic, and 8th in the All-Ohio, the Tiger harriers finished 7th in the OC Championship meet. Senior Captain Mufaro Hove, who won two firsts and compiled 18 points during the season, was named Most Valuable Player.

Bowling

The bowling club, coached by Bob Moyers, posted a 5-5 season by defeating Dayton, Mount Union, Oberlin, Denison, and Muskingum. They finished 5th in the OC Tourney and 12th out of 19 in the Region Seven Tournament. MVP Dunn had the highest average (180). Co-Captains were Chisholm (176) and Iglehart (167), who also rolled the highest game (237) and the highest series (607). The team average was 174.

A timely bodycheck

Coach Phil Roach's stickmen closed their first full season with a successful record of 5 wins and 3 losses. They defeated Ashland (15-1), Indianapolis (20-4), Denison, Oberlin, and Ohio State and lost to Ohio University, Ohio Wesleyan, and Kenyon.

Sterling led the scoring with 18 points, while Goalie Hillman had a .722 "save" percentage. Captain Dave Richardson was named MVP. Like soccer, lacrosse will be a varsity sport next year.

Under Coach Roach and with new uniforms, a new playing field, and an "official" and taxing schedule, the soccer club recorded a 1-4-1 season mark. The Tiger booters defeated Heidelberg, tied Ohio Wesleyan, and lost to Heidelberg, Kenyon, Wooster, and Denison.

With only two seniors on the squad, the team may be expected to develop the ability to play as a unit. Goalie Rich Willett was the inexperienced team's Most Valuable Player. Larson's four goals led the scoring.

Although the baseball team (9-4) failed to repeat as conference champions, the Tigers finished third in the league race with an 8-3 record. Coach Maurer's hitters batted at a .252 clip, while the mound staff compiled a fine 2.14 earned run average. The losses resulted from an inability to combine these elements and to bring in 112 runners stranded on base.

Captain and MVP Jim Osborne had a terrific year. He led the pitchers with a 7-0 record and a 1.09 ERA. But his finest achievement was his no-hit 5-1 victory against Denison, only the third no-hit effort in Wittenberg's history. Four days later in the 13 inning Akron win, Oz hurled 6 2/3 more innings of no-hit relief work to end his career with 13 2/3 consecutive innings of not allowing a hit.

Leading the hitters was All-Conference Roedel, who batted .396 for the season while being the only regular to play errorless ball in the field. All-Conference Miller batted .327 and George hit .319. Quiet bats produced only three runs in three losses for hard-luck pitcher Meier (1-3).

Britton demonstrates winning address

Young and inexperienced but playing with skill and desire, the Tiger golf team bounced back from a 3-9 record to post a 5-3-1 mark this spring under first-year coach Dave Maurer. In the conference tournament the linksmen finished 11th during a steady downpour, which cut the tourney to 18 holes. Their best effort came in the Denison Invitational best-ball event, when the golfers finished second behind the Big Red. Harrison and Cline teamed up to tie for individual honors with a best-ball 69.

Captain and Most Valuable Player Andy Britton paced the team with a 79.1 average, while Patrick (81.4) led the scoring by winning 28.5 of a possible 36 points. O'Neill's 81.1 average and 27 points were second best in both categories.

The tennis team won one more match than last year, but also lost one more and finished 7-2 for the regular season and third in the conference tournament. Coach Dave Beach's netmen were well-balanced and talented, but relative inexperience at several positions weakened the team against strong Denison and Kenyon.

Captain and Most Valuable Player Bill Barrett (9-3) culminated his career by winning the conference number one singles title. Four years of hard work, skill, and desire produced four straight singles or doubles titles for the senior netman.

Finishing second at the league meet were Mitchell (10-2) at second singles and Starkey (11-1) at fourth singles. During the regular season, Starkey and Block (8-1) went undefeated with 9-0 and 6-0 marks. Mitchell's one loss in nine starts was his first in 17 collegiate matches.

The track team improved on last year's record (1-7) by posting 3 wins and 5 losses. Coach Tranquill, 10 lettermen, and competent freshmen were responsible for this encouraging season. The Tiger thinclads placed ninth in the 14-team OC meet with 22 points. Here, after accumulating seven regular season firsts in the 880 and mile, Captain and MVP Mufaro Hove won the 880 and set a new WU mark of 1:54.4. Greek Week King Frank Welling
Greek Week Queen Priscilla Keuthan

What do you mean you can't remember the words?

Greeks participate in and sponsor many campus events. Homecoming, Greek Week, Fraternity and Sorority Sings, the Myers Hall bike race, formals, and pledge dances were all part of this year's agenda.

The winner and still champion—Phi Mu Delta!

The Greek System is an integral part of campus life at Wittenberg, and members of its 16 national fraternities and sororities are recognizing more and more their growing commitments to the university and to themselves. Both internal and external pressures are lending an atmosphere of re-evaluation and change at the individual group levels. This year a special committee of Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity Councils formulated and distributed a questionnaire to faculty members and non-Greek students asking their opinions and criticisms of the Greek System. The results—to be released next year—should aid Greek groups in developing programs relevant to their members, the campus, and the community.

ALPHA DELTA PI

This year has been rewarding for an active ADPi chapter. Senior Jo Ann Soker served as Pan-Hell President, and House President Sharlene Spoerner was President of Women's Residence Hall Council. ADPi's held offices in many honoraries such as Alpha Lambda Delta, Kappa Delta Epsilon, Tau Pi Phi, W.U.S.E.A., Ivy Ring, and Pi Delta Epsilon. Many of them had the opportunity to study in England, Germany, Mexico, and the University of the Seven Seas this year. They were very fortunate in having Catherine Laurent, a foreign student from France, living with them. Some of this year's social events included two pledge dances, a picnic for underprivileged children given with the Fijis, a party given by the pledge class at Town and Country, and a Spring Sweetheart Dinner Dance. ADPi's support an orphan in Korea as a service project. A highlight of the year was Parents' Weekend beginning Becky Warner's reign as Alma Mater.

Aunt Mabel

The Fuzzies have definitely not had an unexciting year on pedological hill. In the fall we arrived back at Witt and gave our warm "Hello's" to our new housemother, Aunt Mabel. It wasn't long until we found what the shape of our stomachs was when we SLURPed up the third place trophy in the Homecoming displays. One Friday we celebrated by having all the sororities over for a Pre T(GIF). We've also had much fun this year in forests—having a red bus to take us To the Woods ... for a pledge dance, having five fizzie Fuzzies there, and trying to find Abbie and Johnny sitting in a tree. At Thanksgiving and Christmas we helped a local family by giving them food and presents. which they could not obtain otherwise, and gave them a share in our happiness and good fortune. The coming of 1967 was cause for an evening with Father Time Winegar and Baby New Year Hartmann. The seniors ditched ... a camel established residence. An "As You Like It" pledge dance was held in the winter and in the spring we had our annual Rose Dinner Dance. We also won second place in the Greek Week skits with the aid of the Lambda Chi's in "Chug It." Individuals in the group have also been working hard. Karen kept busy organizing the WITT and was installed as the new Pan-Hel president. Linda was one of the candidates for Alma Mater and two Peggys, Bev, Ellen, and Holly went to England to see if the English could speak English! So it has been a great year with the Fuzzies "sharing pleasures, all their treasures for old Alpha Xi."

Each Chi Omega can look back on this year with great pride in herself and in her sorority. Judy West was crowned Homecoming queen, and Kathy Mitchell reigned as queen of the Junior-Senior Prom. Chi Omega was well represented in campus groups; with members serving as presidents of Syncopates and Spray Misses, four new Shifters, and three cheerleaders. Honors for the entire sorority began with a second place trophy in the Homecoming displays. They worked hard and found themselves first among the sororities in scholarship for the first two terms. Socially, Chi O's enjoyed themselves at the annual "Owl Howl" with the Fijis, and the winter formal "Tender is the Night". They also shared their "Christmas spirit" at orphan parties with the Phi Psis and the ATO's. Chi Omegas will have fond memories of the excitement and joy they found in their sisterhood.

The DG line picked up our President, Diane, and brought her back from the National Convention with two new trophies: one for scholarship and one for Gamma Rho being an outstanding chapter among small colleges. Six new pledges rushed onto our line with bubbling drive. They were soon following a string on an exciting trip of their own, winding up with their new Big Sises. In October the train stopped around campus for our annual pumpkin serenade. Another car was joined to our line in January with the addition of twenty-one new pledges. January was also a time of formal fun with our Anchor Cotillion. The new car also entertained guests when they gave a party celebrating George Washington's Birthday for the active chapter and the Phi Psi's. Third term began with installing new officers and seeing sisters active on campus and receiving honors such as Syncopates, Spray Misses, Shifters, Ivy Ring, Mortar Board, and Student Senate positions. Then once again we stopped for pleasure when we entertained the campus with a DG-Fiji Street Dance. Spring was ushered in by a chapter dinner and all of the song practices that brought us a third place trophy from the Sorority Sing. The train traveled all over campus with the DG sisters working together in the dining car making our famous Hoagies. We pulled up for our final stop with the "Informal Formal" and the senior picnic.

Delta Zeta's had a very full and rewarding year in 1966-67. The fun began with preparations for making our big Raggedy Anne doll for the Homecoming display entitled "It's All Sewn Up!" DZ also made plans to adopt an orphan overseas and are anxiously awaiting the name and nationality of our new friend. We also had a busy social schedule with two pledge dances, one in the fall "The Black Pearl", and the other in the winter "Ski Spree", plus a spring formal in May. There were also parties and exchange dinners with other groups. Valentine's day brought a party for orphans of the Osterlin Home and an exciting Piñata Party for the actives from the pledges. The pledges were also busy throughout the year making a tile table for the recreation room and relandscaping the backyard. Delta Zeta was honored by having three members tapped for the newly initiated chapter of Mortar Board National Senior Women's Honorary. All in all, Delta Zeta had a very fine year.

Gamma Phi's have had a busy and rewarding 1966-67 school year. Sending underprivileged children to the Shrine Circus was one of the community service projects in which they participated. Pledge dances, a winter formal and an informal spring formal were also included in the schedule. Other social functions which the chapter enjoyed were parties with the Beta's and Pi Kapp's. They actively participated in the intramural sports program and won the All Women's Sports Trophy. Gamma Phi's have been active in campus organizations and many are members of several of the campus honoraries. The chapter was honored when Priscilla Keuthan was elected Greek Week Queen. For the Greek Week skit, paired with the Phi Mu's, they brought home the 1st place trophy. Parents' Weekend brought still another success as Pat Lee and "The Railroad Boy" led them to victory in the sorority sing.

"Octopy the Bishops"—and with this as the slogan of their homecoming display, Kappa Deltas "octopied" first place. But Homecoming proved ever more exciting as five of the nine candidates nominated for queen were Alpha Nus. So began another interesting year full of a great variety of things from service projects such as tutoring at the Clark County Home and collecting for the Heart Fund, to social events which included two pledge dances, a winter formal, "Grecian Dream," and a spring informal (formal). Besides being well represented in campus activities, Kappa Delta also has five girls studying abroad.

Those big white pillars standing out there—pretty impressive aren't they? You know, they hide a pretty swingin' time. Linda Bayliss, Barb Share, and Renee Druckenmiller arrived back with gorgeous tans—that Puerto Rican sun from our national convention. Better ask them about the night life—as we say "oh you guys!" We started the year off lacking two of our group—Barb Brandt in Bregenz, Austria, and Linda Ramsayer in Bristol, England. To mention some of the social events—we dressed the Phi Mu's in newspaper dresses, trimmed our Christmas tree (and ourselves) with the Delta Sig's, and cooked fourteen (Yes, fourteen) pounds of bacon for a breakfast with the Beta's. We had our traditional chapter Christmas party with Santa Raat (otherwise known as Ho Ho) handing out the goodies and trying to decipher the hand-writing on the presents. In case you saw a strange figure on the roof about Halloween with a candle in her hand, it was just a friendly witch directing fall pledges to their big sises. What can we say about our Homecoming display? "We pick Witt" but after awhile our feet got tired so we had to lie down—rather strong wind that day. The newspaper party with the Phi Mu's was a fun-filled evening with gorgeous models displaying the latest in paper dresses. Carol Cox and Karen Haskins went to England on the study tour third term, and we plan a big reunion in the fall for our four world travelers. Our first Parents' Weekend banquet was a delicious success, and we plan to make it an annual event. We ended the year with our Spring formal dinner-dance, and looked back on 1966-67 with a sense of pride in our achievements and with a dream of greater things to come in 1967-68.

"Excommunicate the Bishops"

ATO and Chi O orphans' Christmas Party

Moving quietly into its 84th year at Wittenberg, Alpha Psi Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega again reaffirmed its commitment to Christian stewardship by various service projects, including the Heart Fund Drive and the traditional orphans' Christmas Party with the Chi O's. Freshman pledges did their part for the community when they devoted several days to clearing wooded areas for a Y.M.C.A. summer camp. Involvement in campus government was highlighted by the election of three ATO's to Student Senate offices. In athletics, ATO won the intramural football championship, and "Tiger-Taus" formed the nucleus of this year's football varsity. Homecoming was an important affair to both alumni and actives, as was evidenced by the original "Excommunicate the Bishops" display. ATO saw its usual degree of academic achievement this year and counted eight Dean's List students in its membership. Socially, the brothers enjoyed such parties as "Snow Hop In Tau-land," and "Pledge Potion" among their social successes. Spring "swims" in Buck Creek, and stick-ball on Cassilly St. helped round out ATO's 1966-67 school year.

Celebrating the 100th Anniversary of Alpha Gamma Chapter at Wittenberg, the Betas once again began the year with a first-place homecoming display—a working Swiss clock. They followed this throughout the year by competing for top positions among the Greeks in scholarship and intramurals. The Beta social calendar was highlighted by the Honeymoon Party, Shipwreck Party, and Spring Formal, in addition to the 100th Anniversary Party. Betas were also very active in campus honoraries and organizations, as evidenced by their representation in the presidencies of the sophomore class, the senior class, the Interfraternity Council, the Wittenberg Christian Council, and the Wittenberg Choir.

The Sigs returned to Wittenberg this fall with a great deal of enthusiasm which was quickly converted into "Springing to Victory," our third place Homecoming display. An exchange dinner with the Alpha Xi's and a Christmas party with the Sigma K's completed our social functions for the first term. During the second term, the Sigs were seen again in nautical garb, the traditional dress for the annual "Sailor's Ball." Several "$10 Flings" bridged the gap until our next big function—the Spring Formal, "Soiree Parisienne." Finally, our school year was completed by the addition of not only two excellent pledge classes, but also of our new mascot, "Sphinx."

Once again, Lambda Chi Alpha has sought to achieve total involvement in campus, community, and Greek affairs. The year began with our annual Freshman Women's tea and a second place in the Homecoming Display competition. Also in the first term, the chapter pledged and activated seven brothers. The second term started with our Winter Formal and, then, two pledge dances followed. The spaghetti Dinner was held in February and all proceeds were donated to the Upward Bound program. The third term saw the Choppers activating twelve brothers, bringing home a third place trophy in the Sing, and successfully completing our annual Public Service project.

Add to these a strong faculty guest series and numerous parties with sororities and you have Lambda Chi Alpha—a fraternity of involvement in and commitment to college life.

The men of Phi Gamma Delta worked hard and long this year in making Sigma one of the strongest chapters among Wittenberg fraternities. Under the guidance of President Mark Weller, '67 and Kin Smith, '68, the Fiji's maintained a strong rush program throughout the year. Sparked by a sophomore class 25-strong, they devoted many hours to house improvements including the refurnishing of both back and front lounges. Social service was strong once more; three successful projects were completed with the help of the ADPi's. Brothers winning distinction on campus included Gene Laughman, quarterback and co-captain of the football team, and Roger McElroy, new president of the IFC. Scholarship was also strong as the Fijis copped the 1966 Scholarship Trophy. Though intramurals provided more laughs than wins, the year was highlighted by a full social schedule which included three parties featuring the Amazing Huncie, brought to a climax with a first place in the Fraternity Sing, and topped off by the inimitable and incredible Fiji Island.

Phi Kappa Psi had one of its best years yet in 1966-67, with academic honors highlighting the overall excitement. With fourteen four-pointers leading the way, the scholars on Ward Street achieved the highest academic average that a Wittenberg fraternity has ever had during the second term, while on their way to capturing the IFC scholarship trophy. The brothers' efforts were further rewarded when all three upperclassmen's honoraries tapped Phi Psis. The group was also well represented in all inter-fraternity sports, with several Phi Phis gaining individual honors for their athletic achievements. An LSD party, the formal "Winter Carnival," the two pledge dances entitled "Don't Touch that Knob" and "Shipwreck", a Viking Party and a Bunny Party were highlights in another great social schedule for the Phi Psis. In addition to its traditional participation in Town and Country parties for the mentally retarded, Phi Psis held a Christmas party for orphans with the Chi O's and started sponsoring an underprivileged Korean boy. Second place in the fraternity sing was a good note on which to end a very enjoyable year for eighty-eight fired-up Phi Psis.

Phi Mu Delta, continuing the tradition of diversity within the fraternity, saw representatives in virtually all fields of academical and extra-curricular endeavor. Athletically, we were represented in every varsity sport except tennis. We had especially strong contingents on the football team and the newly formed lacrosse club. Scholastically, we found an affinity for the new system and many of the brothers were named as Dean's list scholars. Our social calendar was well filled with the smashing success of our Winter Formal and the memorable Sweetheart Weekend highlighting the year.

During the past year Pi Kappa Alpha continued the pursuit of its primary objective: providing its brothers with a full and meaningful social experience. In attaining this goal ΠΚΑ held a great number of parties and dances, both formal and informal featuring top "soul" bands from the South. ΠΚΑ frequently mixed service objectives with social functions, as even its Homecoming display netted funds for charity. As in the past, Pi Kappa Alpha's intramural teams established winning records in all sports. The success and worth of such a diversified program was confirmed as seventeen freshmen pledged ΠΚΑ in formal rush. And next year we'll do even better!

Faces Forward To The Future . . .

Acknowledgements

These have been the faces of Wittenberg—all individuals, yet together representing Wittenberg University, 1967. Much time and effort have gone into producing the 1967 WITT and thanks are especially in order to Mr. Ken Dickerson, advisor; to Jim Voris and George Meese, photographers; to Mr. William McCuddy for the soccer candids; and to Arril Johnson for his "monster." Additional thanks go to the section editors, the general staff, and to numerous others without whose help production of the yearbook would have been impossible.

The theme, "Faces of Wittenberg," was chosen with the idea in mind that Wittenberg University as a whole, is actually composed of many faces or facets, and while it is these faces that go together to make the whole, they still retain their own identifying characteristics.
